

Rhorie Kerr, MD

Dr. Rhorie Kerr is a fellowship trained Facial Plastic Surgeon double boarded in both Head and Neck Surgery and Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery who practices at the University of California in complex facial plastic surgery. After completing residency at The Cleveland Clinic he went on to pursue his fellowship training at UCLA with a broad focus in complex head and neck reconstruction, facial paralysis, functional and aesthetic facial plastic surgery.